GEEPLUS ENGINEERS WILL BE AT MEDTEC

Geeplus engineers will be at Medtec in April and will be seen supporting their distributor MACCON Antriebskomponenten GmbH on Stand 9C39.

On hand throughout the show in Stuttgart, the Geeplus personnel will be able to assist their colleagues with any enquiries or design issues that they might be looking to solve.

This visit establishes the Geeplus commitment to the medical industry and supports their growing portfolio of leading edge electro-mechanical components which are already in use in life saving and support applications throughout the world.

The visit to Medtec Europe will be followed by their participation in Compamed in Dusseldorf in November where they will be showing a wide range of their products which are designed for medical equipment applications.
