

GIVING YOU THE BEST FINISH

September 2015: Ensuring the quality of the products you receive from us, has always been our priority. In order to achieve this, we have invested heavily in new equipment in order to maintain that quality. Because we now have the necessary equipment and software to look at our products in microscopic detail, we are able to identify minor blemishes which may affect performance. Often only microns in size, we can't let that go to the customer without some finishing in order to rectify a potential problem. As a result, we now have a honing machine in house which can take care of those little ridges or pits which are invisible to the naked eye, but which won't pass our scrutiny.
